DOING YOUR BIT TO FIGHT MYCOPLASMA BOVIS

While the risk of anglers transmitting the disease is low, we need to do our bit to help contain the spread and reassure farmers

- Stay away from any farms subject to MPI restrictions
- Double check with all farmers before you visit if you are crossing their land
- Check, Clean and Dry your rods, reels, waders and nets between farms and waterways
- Wash your vehicle's wheels and wheel arches before going onto a farm
- Follow any biosecurity measures in place on a farm
- Stick to vehicle tracks
- Stay on angler access paths and don't go anywhere else on the farm
- Don't touch or make contact with farm animals

CODE OF CONDUCT

Please consider the rights of others and observe the anglers' code of conduct

- Always ask permission from the land occupier before crossing private property unless a Fish & Game access sign is present.
- Do not park vehicles so that they obstruct gateways or cause a hazard on the road or access way.
- Always use gates, stiles or other recognised access points and avoid damage to fences.
- Leave everything as you found it. If a gate is open or closed leave it that way.
- A farm is the owner's livelihood and if they say no dogs, then please respect this.
- When driving on riverbeds keep to marked tracks or park on the bank and walk to your fishing spot.
- Never push in on a pool occupied by another angler. If you are in any doubt have a chat and work out who goes where.
- However, if agreed to share the pool then always enter behind any angler already there.
- Move upstream or downstream with every few casts (unless you are alone).
- Fish being returned to the water should be released as carefully and quickly as possible. Ideally leave the fish in the water and remove the hook with long-nosed pliers without handling the fish.
- While catch and release fishing is widely promoted by some as a conservation minded approach to angling it remains the angler's choice. However, the catching of large numbers of fish in a day can impact on individual fish and also on the angling experience for others. Fish & Game advocate hooking and landing a limited number of fish per day.
- Fish being retained should be killed as quickly as possible, ideally by spiking or stabbing the brain slightly behind and above the eye (also known as iki jime – pronounced "iki jimi").
- Always respect the environment, wildlife, other anglers and members of the public.
- Remove waste nylon and personal litter from the river banks and parking places.
- The only way we can protect our rivers in the long term is to CHECK, CLEAN and DRY all your gear before entering another river or lake anywhere in New Zealand.

REMEMBER TO TREAT OTHERS AS YOU WOULD WISH TO BE TREATED YOURSELF!

NATIONAL REGULATIONS

THE SPORTS FISHING REGULATIONS

These regulations are set to ensure that:

- fish populations are maintained and that the number of fish caught does not threaten the sustainability of the fishery
- the quality of the fishing experience is maintained
- spawning areas are protected
- angling opportunities are not unnecessarily restricted
- incompatible methods of fishing are kept separate
- anglers use sporting methods.

The main angling rules and catch limits are shown in this booklet, but there are other rules in the Conservation Act, Freshwater Fisheries Regulations and other legislation which affect sports fishing. For example, a current fishing licence is required to fish for the species listed in the First Schedule, and it must be carried with anglers at all times when fishing. The licence is to be produced upon demand by a Fish & Game Ranger.

If you are in any doubt about sports fishing regulations, please contact your local Fish & Game office.

These regulations are approved by the Minister of Conservation on the advice of the 12 regional Fish & Game Councils. The Fish & Game licence allows an angler to fish New Zealand wide (except Taupo) and every attempt has been made to make the regulations as consistent nationwide as possible.

ANGLERS' NOTICE FOR FISH AND GAME REGIONS

CONSERVATION ACT 1987 FRESHWATER FISHERIES REGULATIONS 1983

Pursuant to section 26R (3) of the Conservation Act 1987, the Minister of Conservation approves the following Anglers Notice, subject to the First and Second Schedules of this Notice, for the following Fish & Game Regions:

Northland	Nelson/Marlborough
Auckland/Waikato	North Canterbury
Eastern	West Coast
Hawke's Bay	Central South Island
Taranaki	Otago
Wellington	Southland

NOTICE

This Notice shall come into force on the 1st day of October 2018.

1. APPLICATION OF THIS NOTICE

- 1.1 This Anglers' Notice sets out the conditions under which a current licence holder may fish for sports fish in the area to which the notice relates, being conditions relating to—
- the size and limit bag for any species of sports fish;
 - any open or closed season in any specified waters in the area, and the sports fish in respect of which they are open or closed;
 - any requirements, restrictions, or prohibitions on fishing tackle, methods, or the use of any gear, equipment, or device;
 - the hours of fishing;
 - the handling, treatment, or disposal of any sports fish.
- 1.2 This Anglers' Notice applies to sports fish which include species of trout, salmon and also perch and tench (and rudd in Auckland /Waikato Region only).
- 1.3 Perch and tench (and rudd in Auckland /Waikato Region only) are also classed as coarse fish in this Notice.
- 1.4 Within coarse fishing waters (as defined in this Notice) special provisions enable the use of coarse fishing methods that would otherwise be prohibited.
- 1.5 Outside of coarse fishing waters a current licence holder may fish for coarse fish wherever sports fishing is permitted, subject to the general provisions in this Notice that apply for that region.

PLEASE KEEP DIDYMO OUT OF THE NORTH ISLAND

It is crucial that you do your bit to keep Didymo out of the North Island.

CHECK, CLEAN and DRY your fishing gear, clothing, waders and other equipment before moving from one waterway to another. Thoroughly spray your gear (lines, reels, rods, flies, nets, waders, boots etc) and any clothing that has been in contact with water with a 5% solution of household detergent.

CHECK and remove all plant matter from your gear

CLEAN spray or soak with 5% detergent

DRY completely dry for 48 hours

FELT SOLED BOOTS have been identified as a high risk carrier of didymo and other unwanted aquatic organisms. The felt is very absorbent and cannot be cleaned effectively using the normal methods. Fish & Game New Zealand is continuing the restriction placed on the use of felt soles since 2008.

ANGLERS MUST STILL CHECK, CLEAN, DRY ALL EQUIPMENT THAT GETS WET WHILE FISHING BEFORE GOING TO A NEW FISHING SPOT.

FIRST SCHEDULE

Fishing conditions generally common to all Fish and Game regions.

SECOND SCHEDULE

Regional specific fishing conditions, bag limits, closed and open waters, and the like.

FIRST SCHEDULE

(applies to all regions except Taupo)

Fish & Game New Zealand's Nelson/Marlborough region offers some of the best, most easily accessible brown trout fishing in the country. In fact many of New Zealand's fishing guides who specialise in sighted brown trout fishing, work in this region. There is wonderful diversity reflected in the waters of Nelson/Marlborough. Rivers in the Golden Bay area are crystal clear in normal flows and dark brown in freshes from tannic acid leaching out of the native bush catchments. Waimea basin catchments rise in the steep beech clad Richmond and Arthur ranges before flowing through intensely farmed lands growing pine trees, apples, kiwifruit and hops. The Murchison district offers everything from small feeder streams to the impressive Buller River. The Buller is New Zealand's fifth largest river, originating from the alps in the Nelson Lakes National Park. The run off and snow melt from these mountains flow into Lakes Rotoiti and Rotoroa. The two Lake outlets, although currently affected by invasive Didymo algae, form the upper Buller River until it is joined by the Matakītiki, Mangles, Matiri and Maruia at the 'four rivers plain' near Murchison. Marlborough rivers are a total contrast to the western Nelson rivers, often being blue coloured from glacial silt and wide, braided and undergoing extremes of flow. Molesworth Station is New Zealand's largest farm. This huge trackless area features many small alpine tarns and lakes and its western and southern boundary is the Clarence River-one of New Zealand's longest and more remote catchments that drain the Inland and Seaward Kaikouras. The lower Clarence and the Awatere Rivers flowing northeast from Molesworth are heavily silt laden for much of the year. Completing the circle of the region we finish in the Marlborough Sounds main catchment, the Pelorus Valley. Beginning in the Richmond ranges between Nelson and Marlborough, this river gouges its way through steep native bush covered mountains to slow down to a gentle pace in lush dairy farm land before entering the sea at Havelock.

ACCESS PAMPHLETS

Access pamphlets providing detailed maps and instructions of access points and fishing information are available for Golden Bay and the Buller, Motueka, Pelorus and Wairau catchments. Pamphlets are available at no cost from most licence agents and information centres or the Nelson Fish & Game office. Access pamphlets are also available on www.fishandgame.org.nz.

COARSE FISH

Historically perch and tench, along with koi carp and Gambusia, were illegally released into the Nelson/Marlborough Region. It is Fish and Game policy that no anglers should benefit from illegal releases of sports fish. Therefore, fishing for coarse fish in the region is still illegal and any angler found targeting coarse fish will be prosecuted.

DIDYMO

Didymo is now present in many Nelson/Marlborough Rivers and anglers are reminded that they need to continue to disinfect their gear when moving between all rivers to minimise the risks of spreading didymo and other aquatic diseases. The most visible didymo growth occurs in Lake or Reservoir fed rivers such as the Upper Buller & Takaka Rivers. It is notable that this species is not yet present in the North Island.

FIN-CLIPPED FISH & TROUT HEADS

Anglers are asked to keep an eye out for adipose fin-clipped trout and salmon. (Some may have tags located either under the skin next to the dorsal fin or inserted in the abdominal cavity). If an angler catches an adipose fin-clipped trout, they are asked to contact F&G with date, location caught and length & weight data, along with the tag (if fish kept). F&G would also like to receive the heads (and details), of any trout and salmon (not just tagged fish) kept in the region – for otolith analysis.

Fish & Game New Zealand's West Coast region extends from Kahurangi Point, north of Karamea, to Awarua Point south of Haast. In between lies some 2 million hectares, much of it wilderness and with more rivers and lakes than many people would fish in a lifetime. Increasing numbers of anglers' rate isolation, peace and solitude almost as highly as the opportunity to fish for wild trout. On the 'Coast these attributes exist in abundance along with a surprising range of angling opportunity. Brown trout occupy a diverse range of habitats between the mountains and the sea including lakes and spring fed river tributaries. The more popular sea-run salmon fisheries are centred on South Westland lakes-which also contain resident lake stocks-and from January until April salmon can be expected around most major river mouths south of and including the Grey River. Barriers to access for anglers are, for the most part, dictated only by climate and terrain. All that we ask is that you respect West Coast waters, leave no litter and return fish that you cannot use.

ARAHURA RIVER ACCESS

Unlike most other West Coast rivers, the bed and banks of the Arahura River are not public land. In 1976 the Crown vested the title to the bed and banks of the Arahura River in the Mawhera Incorporation, a Māori landowners Trust, as Māori freehold land. The Mawhera Incorporation has a permit system in place to allow for public access. To obtain a permit from Mawhera Incorporation contact Rachel Scott (Mawhera Administrator), Proprietors of Mawhera Incorporation, Level 2, 83 Victoria Street, Christchurch, PO Box 13042, Christchurch 8141 T: (03) 964 7203 F: (03) 365 4098 E: admin@mawhera.org.nz.

HAUPIRI RIVER ACCESS

A public access agreement is in place for Heaphy Road which provides access to the upper Haupiri River. Vehicle access to the carpark up the valley is ensured for recreational and commercial recreation purposes. Anglers must check in at the Christian Community Trust office as the access road is through private property. Access over the Land is restricted to the marked Route and is only permitted during day light hours (except in the case of an emergency). Access from the Carpark onwards is restricted to access by foot along the marked walking Routes. No filming or recording of the Trust's members or property is permitted on the Route without the Trust's permission. The New Zealand Outdoors Access Code is to be complied with on the Route. No camping, lighting of fires, hunting or discharging of firearms is permitted on the Route or the Land.

WEST COAST SPORTSFISHING GUIDE

Fish and Game produce a regional map with instructions for access points and fishing information. Pamphlets are available at no cost from most licence agents and information centres or the West Coast Fish & Game office. A copy is also downloadable at www.fishandgame.org.nz.

ANGLING ETHICS

The West Coast region encourages a voluntary catch and release limit of 6 fish per day. This is to minimise the impact of angling pressure in sensitive fisheries and ensure the catchability of fish for future generations.

BACKCOUNTRY FISHERIES

For more information on West Coast backcountry fisheries or to obtain a backcountry licence go to www.fishandgame.org.nz

FIN-CLIPPED SALMON RELEASES

Liberations of salmon in the West Coast Region have been made during recent years with fin-clipped hatchery stock. The removal of the adipose fin allows for quick identification of hatchery origin fish. West Coast Fish and Game would like information of any fin-clipped salmon caught. This includes details of date, location, length, weight, and hen/jack fish. This information will be used to evaluate fishery enhancement during subsequent seasons and improve future salmon enhancement.

Fish & Game New Zealand's North Canterbury region offers much to the angler. Without a doubt the star attraction of the region is the sea-run salmon fishery. The Rakaia, Waimakariri, Hurunui and Waiau rivers offer excellent sea-run salmon fishing between November and March. The best time to plan a trip is during February when river flows tend to be stable after the period of major snow melt in the Southern Alps. Most salmon are caught on heavy spinning tackle upriver or on specialised long-distance surf casting tackle in the surf next to the river mouth. With an average size of around 7kg, salmon are one of the most highly sought-after sports fish in the country.

In an effort to ensure the sustainability of the salmon fishery without imposing additional regulations on anglers, North Canterbury Fish & Game encourages salmon anglers to limit their seasonal catch numbers and adopt the growing trend of catch and release of this magnificent sports fish (only if the fish is uninjured and not bleeding from the gills).

In addition to the high-profile salmon fishery, North Canterbury also offers great fishing for other species. More than 30 high country lakes offer Brown and Rainbow trout with a few also offering landlocked Chinook salmon. The upper reaches of the braided rivers offer high quality Brown and Rainbow trout with very big fish in places. The lower reaches of the same rivers provide excellent sea-run trout fishing as well. Very large runs of fresh silver sea-run Brown trout converge on the tidal areas of the salmon rivers, particularly during the months of December and January.

For more information on sports fishing in North Canterbury, consult the fishing access guides/maps: Rakaia River, Waimakariri River, Hurunui and Waiau Rivers, the High-Country Lakes, Junior Fisheries and Close to Christchurch. These are available from the North Canterbury office, from the North Canterbury Region page of the web site (www.fishandgame.org.nz) or from major sports shops in the region.

For fishing conditions during the main fishing season ring (03) 366-2986 for our recorded river report.

Pollution Hotline: To report incidences of pollution or other damage to our waterways, please ring Environment Canterbury's 24-hour Pollution Hotline on 0800-76 55 88 and tell them that you want to be advised of the outcome of their investigation.

Angler harvest data indicates this may be one of the key freshwater components having an impact on the declining salmon fishery. Further restrictions may be imposed if harvest / spawning number ratios do not improve and the salmon fishery shows no signs of recovery. For further information you can download the report Restoration of the Salmon Fishery - a strategic outline here: <https://fishandgame.org.nz/dmsdocument/1194>

Fish & Game New Zealand's Central South Island region extends from the south bank of the Rakaia River in the north, to Moeraki in the south. With their headwaters in the Southern Alps, the Waitaki and the Rangitata are the region's biggest rivers. These are noted Chinook salmon fisheries with best fishing success from December through March. The Rangitata Mouth is one of the more famous fishing locations in the South Island as large numbers of salmon anglers congregate there when news of salmon catches spread amongst the community. Salmon fishing in the Waitaki tends to be split between mouth and upriver anglers, with fishing from anchored jet boats being a popular option. Smaller rivers including the Opihi-Temuka and Ashburton together with many high-country lakes are habitat to substantial brown and rainbow trout fisheries. Fontinalis (brook trout) are also present in some of these waters. In fact, the Central South Island Region has some of the best fontinalis populations in the country, with Lake Emily being renowned as the place in New Zealand to catch a trophy.

For sheer numbers of trout, the lakes and rivers of the Mackenzie country are hard to beat. The Tekapo River and Lake Benmore in particular contain very good numbers of trout which are not overly difficult to catch. The canals that carry water for the many hydroelectric power stations in the Mackenzie basin are popular with local and visiting anglers and are renowned for producing extremely large trout. Brown and rainbow trout benefit from the commercial salmon farms that operate within the canals and commonly reach 4-10kg. Each season several trout weighing 15-18kg are also caught. Salmon are sporadically released from the salmon farms into the canals and are the mainstay of anglers catch at the canals.

The invasive algae Didymo is present in many of the region's waterways. Please help us stop the spread of didymo to new areas by restricting use of fishing gear to exclusive use in a single waterway. If you move gear between waterways you must CHECK, CLEAN and DRY. For more information on didymo visit www.biosecurity.govt.nz.

Otago Fish and Game Region extends from Shag Point on the South Island's East Coast south to The Brothers Point in the Catlins area. The region runs inland to include the whole of both the Clutha and Taieri River catchments as well as several smaller coastal river catchments such as the Catlins, Tahakopa, Tokomairiro, Waikouaiti and Shag. Otago Region has a range of fishing opportunities set in diverse landscapes from pristine high country and barren Central Otago to the lush lowland pastures of coastal Otago. All anglers and all methods are catered for. The large southern lakes - Wanaka, Wakatipu and Hawea hold good stocks of salmon, rainbow and brown trout and are popular with boat anglers, but if smaller fly fishing water is your preference, then the productive coastal streams and the Taieri or Pomahaka Rivers are worth a visit. Please respect our angling waters by obeying the angling restrictions applying to them, not leaving rubbish and obtaining the landowner's permission where required.

ANGLING INFORMATION

Access pamphlets including maps are available for many of the popular waters. Pamphlets are available to download on the Otago pages of the website www.fishandgame.org.nz or from selected outlets. You may also visit the office or email us to have them posted to you.

The Southland region is one of the strongholds of brown trout in New Zealand. Regular summer rain means that the rivers and streams of the region usually flow strongly all through the fishing season. However, this also means that rainfall can at times limit angling activities and anglers should have a good knowledge of the region so that lakes and spring creeks, which are not affected by flooding, can be fished. The Southland plains and hills offer a large number of easily accessible rivers and streams which cater for all types of angling. Most waters have easy access points, many of which are marked with Fish & Game signage. The Mataura is the best-known Southland River. It flows through the town of Gore, "The Brown Trout Capital of the World". This reputation brings an ever-increasing number of anglers into our province to fish this and other rivers like the Aparima and Oreti. While the headwaters of these rivers have reputations for producing big fish they are often very hard to catch and are less numerous. The lowland rivers are much more productive and accessible and, while their trout are smaller on average they can provide excellent angling, especially for family groups and those starting out on a fishing career.

Rainbow trout are restricted to the western lakes and their tributaries, and the Mararoa and Waiiau River system. Didymo, the invasive alga that smothers river beds, occurs in several Southland rivers, affecting the Mararoa and the Waiiau the worst. Anglers need to carefully clean their gear between rivers because there are rivers where it hasn't got to yet. The rivers of Fiordland are pristine, and it is important that didymo does not get introduced to these. Anglers fishing in these rivers must get a Clean Gear Certificate before fishing there. Details are on the Web site www.fishandgame.org.nz and at the F&G office.

The large lakes, Te Anau and Manapouri, and the smaller lakes Monowai and North Mavora are ideal for trolling from a boat. While they don't have large populations of trout compared to lakes farther north they are beautiful scenic gems where competent anglers can expect to catch several fish in a day's fishing. We have trolling brochures and a video on the F&G website to help anglers maximise their chances of catching a fish or two.

In midsummer Southland's mid reach and easily accessible headwater rivers can get quite crowded so it's important that anglers are considerate of others and give them space to enjoy trout fishing as it should be - "a contemplative person's recreation". We have voluntary beat systems on the Upper Oreti and we encourage anglers to ensure they don't walk down onto others who may be fishing upstream, to maintain peace and harmony on all of our river banks.

Salmon (chinook) angling in Southland is worth a try too. Each year a few dozen sea run salmon are caught in the main rivers in February and March. Lake Manapouri has a developing chinook population. Special regulations apply to river salmon fish.
