

FISH & GAME OFFICER

The Otago Fish and Game Council is looking to appoint an enthusiastic Fish & Game Officer to join our team based in Dunedin in a marketing and communication role.

The successful applicant will undertake duties associated with advocacy for sportsfish and gamebirds and their habitats and the promotion of angling and gamebird hunting to the wider community. A further key component of the role will be licence holder and stakeholder engagement and management of the Councils media activity. Other tasks include monitoring angler and hunter use, evaluating fish and game resources and regulation compliance.

If you have an interest in advocating for sportsfish and gamebirds, angling and hunting, and the Otago environment in general, then we would like to hear from you, especially if you have some or all of the following attributes:

- A true passion for outdoor recreation and the environment
- Well developed oral and written communication skills.
- Experience with news and print media, social media and website management
- A reasonable knowledge of fish and game management principles and angling and hunting techniques.
- A tertiary qualification in marketing, science communication, journalism or a related field would be desirable but not necessary.
- Relevant work experience.

A full Job Description is available upon request or by visiting the careers page on our website www.fishandgame.org.nz.
