

FISH & GAME OFFICER - ECOLOGIST

The Central South Island Fish and Game Council is on the search for an enthusiastic Fish & Game Officer to join our small Temuka-based team as an ecologist.

If you have an interest in research and monitoring of sports fish and gamebirds, advocating for healthy habitats and the well-being of the wider environment in the Central South Island Fish and Game Region, and liaising with our licence holders then we would like to invite you to apply for this exciting opportunity.

The following attributes are desirable:

- A passion for outdoor recreation, wildlife, and the environment
- Effective oral and written communication skills
- Experience with species monitoring, research, and management
- A reasonable working knowledge of fish and gamebird management principles
- A tertiary qualification in one of the biological sciences, preferably ecology or zoology, or relevant work experience
- Experience in statistical analysis and modelling would be an advantage

The successful applicant's primary role will be to lead research and monitoring programmes for sports fish, gamebirds, and habitat along with advocating for fish and game values through various resource management matters including policy and consenting.

The role has an enviable balance of field and office-based work with opportunities to support other Fish & Game related activities such as compliance, wetland and habitat restoration projects and licence holder liaison.

A full job description is available upon request or by visiting the careers page on our website www.fishandgame.org.nz.

Applications close at 5pm, 3 November 2021. Please send cover letter and CV to:
